Hereafter calls on gentlemen to become condidates, of matter of a personal nature, will be charged for as adver-tisements,

THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATES.

For Chancellor: O. P. TEMPLE. For Circuit Judge: E. T. HALL.

For Attorney General: J. M. THORNBURGH.

KNOX COUNTY TICKET.

For Criminal Court Judge: M. L. HALL. For Clerk of Criminal Court H. C. TARWATER.

Recovering.

We are glad to be able to state that Mr. L. H. Osborns is improving steadily, and beyond a slight hemorrhage, is doing very well.

Approaching.

"Old" John Robinson exhibited at Jones-boro' last night. He will be here next Saturday, and the small boys had better have a supply of frogs on hand.

Montvale Springs.

This popular watering place is crowded with visitors. There were one hundred and sixty there on Sunday, and the season is not yet at its height. There is room for more.

Killed by Lightning.

The Holston Journal says that on Monday last Mr. Isaac Herring, of Stanley Valley, in Hawkins county, was killed by lightning. Several other persons were shocked at the same -

Criminal Judgeship. We understand that the friends of the rival candidates for the Judgeship, after a protracted session, decided that Mr. J. F. J. Lewis was the stronger man, so we presume Mr. Washburne will retire from the field.

Hamblen County. The vote for the establishment of this county will be taken on the 10th of September, and will result in its formation, beyond a peradventure. It will be composed of portions of Grainger and Jefferson counties. We learn that the citizens of Grainger are almost unanimous for the measure, and that Jefferson will also poll a strong vote. The county-seat will be at Morristown.

Concealed Weapons.

Isn't it about time the law prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons was stringently enforced? Every man suspected of carrying them should be liable to search by proper offi-If they have not that right now, the Courts ought to give it to them, in order to check this great and growing evil, which is provocative of blood spilling.

Profits of the Pen.

It is said that Washington Irving drew 800,-000 from his last publisher as his share of profits often years' sales of his works, and that during his lifetime he earned $250,000 by his pen. It is estimated that Sir Walter Scott cleared $500,000 in twenty-six years. Dickens, it is said, left an estate of $450,000, and he must have spent at least a hundred thousand dollars within the last twenty years. No other author ever made so much money by his pen.

The Wet Weather.

Our country friends express great fears that the continued wet weather will prove very damaging to the wheat crop, a large partion of which yet stands in the field. Already the crop has been much injured. Outs, also, are injured in the same way. The prospect now for an abundant corn crop, is unusually promising. Where it has been properly worked, the prospect was never better. A few more showers at proper intervals will insure the group

Commission House.

We call attention to the very conspicuous card of Messrs. Mabry, Turner & Co., to be found in another column of this paper. The gentlemen composing the firm are among the best business men of East Tennessee, and are doing a heavy business in agricultural implements, and having added the commission business will give their house increased facilities. and parties desiring to consign produce to them may rest assured of getting the highest price.

Eastern Division Fair.

The farmers of East Tennessee will look forward to the 3rd day of October, and the three days following, with feelings of interest, that being the time at which the Eastern Division, Fair is to be held here. Previous to the war, these fairs were well attended, and were occasions of more than ordinary interest. Now that the farmers are straining every nerve to excelin their vocation, and our mechanics are laboring to perfect their knowledge of the different pursuits in which they are engaged, it is eminently proper that they meet and counsel together, and exhibit specimens of what they have accomplished. Nothing will do more towards the improvement of our stock of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep, &c., than for the people to meet together and show what they have accomplished in the way of such improvements. Thus an inquiry is raised, how he can best succeed in raising the best stock.

Three thousand dollars are amounced to be distributed in premiums, and we have no doubt but that a programme of exercises will be presented of an entertaining character.

Enoxville Daily Chroniele.

This enterprising journal comes to us enlarged to a twenty-four column newspaper. The success of this "Bantling" is somewhat surprising, especially to those who are incapable of understanding can standing what talent, plurk and enterprise can accomplish. The managers of this lournel have accomplish. The managers of this fournal have all the qualifications for successful journalists and it gives us great pleasure to see their efforts so warmly appreciated by the people of East Tennessee.—Herald and Tribane.

The Census Marshal while attending to his duties in Shieldstown, generally, found a lady who was the mother of eighteen children.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY.

Bloody Ending of a Bar Room Quarrel.

Last night about nine o'clock a difficulty oc-curred at Griffin & Walker's saloon between Capt John M. Anderson, of Monroe county, and William Dosier, of this city, resulting fatal-ly to the latter.

WHISKY THE CAUSE.

Dozier had been drinking pretty freely, we are told, and early in the evening had seen Anderson in the bar room, whom he insulted, by telling him he would not fight, or something to that effect. Anderson advised him to leave—that he wished no difficulty. This Dozier did, but soon returned, and approaching the door he saw Anderson there, when he repeated the offensive espithets. thets. THE TRACEDY ENACTED.

Knowing his disposition when drinking, Mr. Griffin, the barkeeper, hurried towards Dozier, who was approaching Anderson, with the intention of preventing a collision if possible; but the former caught Griffin by the arm with one hand, holding the other behind bite, and contimed to advance, when Anderson

He went so coosly that Griffin thought he was not hit at the moment, until he heard him gasping for breath. He then ran to him, when the unfortunate man fell backward on the floor in a dying condition. Immediately after firing the fatal shot, Ander-

LEFT IN HASTIC And walked rapidly down Main street, past the court house, several gentlemen sitting in front of the Register's office recognizing him. In a few minutes his brother followed, also walking very fast, and looking behind him, as though expecting pursuit, and turned up Prince street. He was overtaken by the police near Smith's Livery Stable, the officers supposing him to be the murderer. He was brought to Griffin, who stated that he had nothing whatever to do with the difficulty, when he was at once released.

A LARGE CROWD

Collected at the scene of the reacourte, when the door was closed to prevent a rush. Dr. Paxton was the first physician present, who af-ter ascertaining the extent of the wound, pro-nounced the case hopeless. The curiosity of flowe perent was so great that the police had account of the curiosity of the curiosity of some difficulty in permitting a circulation of air, but exerted themselves to the utmost. The wounded man

BLED PROFUSELY.

After lying on the floor some time, he was placed on a stretcher and removed, but before reaching his home breathed his last. Dr. Bailey examined the wound, who said that the ball passed through the left lung above the heart, coming out at the breast, as before stated. The general impression was that the builtet entered near the navel and came out under the arm.

Thus ends another bloody drama in the history of Knoxville, brought about by indulging in ardent spirits. It is a little remarkable that Dozier met his death within a few steps of the place where Policeman Haynes was accidentally killed by him several years ago.

He was buried at Metho dist Hill, on Friday #### afternoon, the 22d instant Criminal Court Clerkship.

The Democratic caucus, in session yesterday, threw aside three of the aspirants for the clerkship of the Criminal Court. Mr. Jack S. Burnett was selected as the champion. We understand he is a elever gentleman, and was, during the war, in the C. S. Nitre Bureau.

The triends of the rival candidates, after due consultation, decided on their course, and we are not suprised at their action. To be sure, the gentlemen ruled off the track are democrats, and Captain Haynes probably fired powder made of the same saltpetre that Mr. Burnett digged; he had also lost a log in the rebelarmy, but the flat had gone forth, "Off with his head! so much for Buckingham!

We knew the junior cyclops would bring then to time before the election.

Water Works

This theme is one whose importance every one admits, yet the majority seem to be indiffer ent as to the carrying out of the undertaking. We yesterday heard a gentleman express his views on the subject, which strike us as the whose on the subject, which strike its as the most feasible of any plan yet suggested. His ideas which are based on the workings of what is in successful operation in Northern cities, and he has entertained them for some time—is to drain the pond near the denot and build a coffee dam to keep the water, and dig a tank fifty or sixty feet long, by two-thirds that in width, parallel with Gay street, so as to cross the ledges of the rock beneath the surface, which extend be tween the two creeks almost uninteruptedly. I water was not reached at the water level of First Creek, it would probably be at the level of Sec-ond Creek. The water would be received in a tank, which would be supplied by the underground veins as olso from the spring in the pend, and thence raised by a duplex engine to a re-serveir on Summit Hill; from which point it can be distributed in pipes through the city.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate were registered in the office of the County Court Clerk during the weak!

G. R. Brandau to John Hall, tract of land in Morgan county, 8350, Sophia Blackwell to Charles Gandon, lot in Knox county, $450.

M. D. Bearden, et ux., to Margaret Harvey, let in Knoxville, $10.

Sunday School at Spring Place.

In company with Col. Stacy, Messrs. O. B. Smith and Thos. Heald, on Sunday morning we made a visit to the Sabbath School 'at Spring

Behind a pair of good horses with the Colonel holding the ribbons, over a good turnpike, the drive was exhilarating and pleasant. Arriving at the Church, we found a very large attendance of scholars and teachers, who seemed so feel it 'was good to be there," and that Sunday School facilities were indeed a privilege.

The school was under the management of Messrs. Smith and Love, and was conducted in European war is felt upon our exchanges. In the prethe most admirable and orderly manner. It was highly deserved by either. Long may the Spring Place Sabbath School continue to bless the children of that intelligent neighborhood,

Attempted Highway Robbery.

Mr. Moses Stewart was assaulted on Poplar street, Chattanooga, on Thursday night about 8 o'clock, by an unknown negro, who knocked him down and attempted to rifle his pockets, in which he had something over one hundred dollars, but became alarmed by his cries, and hearing some one approaching, fled. The negro was met at the corner of 7th street by Mr. John Stewart, son of the wounded man, and a friend, whose opportune arrival saved him from being robbed. The Times says that his injuries, though severe, are not dangerous.

Fruit Prospects.

The other day we took a drive into the country, half a dozen miles from the city, and on every hand saw evidence of thrift on the part of those who dwell apart from the busy haunts of the city. The trees, in many instances, were breaking beneath their abundance of fruit. Orchards of apples, pears, plums, &c., lined the roadside, while acres of potatoes and melous, with fields of corn in tassel, waving in the breeze, gave rich promise of an ample supply of the necessaries of life.

An Unnatural Mother.

About two weeks ago, Nancy Peck, an abandoned character, left an infant a few weeks old at a shanty in the suburbs, occupied by a man and his wife named Nelson, which they cared for as kindly as their limited means would allow. The child remained there until last Friday, when the mother sent a colored woman for it and had the infant brought to her. The maternal instinct was of short duration, however, for late in the afternoon the amiable Nancy brought the child back, and when Nelson hesitated about receiving it the unnatural mother three her offspring on the floor and left. The child was badly hurt, and though attended to, died the next day and was buried on Sunday to, died the next day and was buried on Sunday afternoon by a colored man, assisted by two women, near a culvert on the East Tennessee and Virginia railroad. The heartless mother was not present, as we are informed, and has always disliked the child on account of its color.

Stock Raising.

The Greeneville National Union men nove in the right direction, by Capt. The Greeneville National Calon mentions a move in the right direction, by Capt. W. B. Jones, of Lick Creek, near Blue Springs. Capt. Jones is originally from Kentucky, the land of fine cattle and bleeded horses. He has several hundred acres of his fine Lick Creek bottom sown in grass and intends to turn his whole attention to raising stock. He has now something like fifty head of the finest Durham cattle.

FINANCIAL.

Knoxville Quotations of Money and Stocks.

OFFICE OF THE KNOXVILLE CHEONICLE, July 20th, 1870.

The outbreak of war between France and Prussia has subjected financial affairs in this country to a severe strain. The great resources and national pride of the contestants, together with the possibility, not to say probability, that other powers may be ultimately drawn into the struggle, too plainly indicate that the war may prove to be much more costly and protracted than that of 1896; and the event has, therefore, produced a profound sensation in Wall street. The first effect of c sent case electronstances are, in some respects, peculiarly unfavorable for resisting the effect. From natural causes, the European money markets have recently had a hardening tendency, which, with the extreme case in the home money markets, has rather favored the rescason, the foreign exchanges are against us. Our exports of cotton and produce are every week becoming lighter, from the working down of stocks in hand; and in addition to this inequality on the trading account we had to remit to Europe, during the first balf of this month, several millions of semi-annual interest on se curities. A condition of things in Europe, therefore which is calculated to induce the calling home of balances held here, a contraction of and an exdensive realizing upon our securities held there, was exhaulated. under these circumstances, to have a very marked of feet upon the home band market, and upon the price of gold. The disturbance, however, has been less that might have been expected. The price of gold has advanced from $1.11% to $1.22%, and bonds have decline 3003% per cent., while the decline of 502s on the London market has been 8% per cent. At no period since the outbreak has the bond market here been high enough to admit of the return of any considerable amount of bonds from Europe, the rise in the gold premium having almost constantly kept the gold value of price of bonds be maintained, no return of bonds is to be expected. In the war crisis of 1866, about 10,000,000 of 5-20s were returned from Europe; but scarcely had the bonds begun to arrive here, before a reflux move ment set in, which resulted in our sending out, within two or three weeks, about 15,000,000 of bands to Europe With this knowledge of the preference for United State securities in Europe in periods of war, there is both abroad and at home little disposition to run into panie upon them; and although it is possible that in the event of the complications involving powers at present neu tral, prices might still further decline, yet it seems pro bable that there would be ultimate recovery. This conviction produces a comparatively steady feeling in the market here, and is an effectual stay against panic

Temperance Meeting. On yesterday a meeting of the friends of temperance took place at Temperance Hall in "South America," and were addressed by our talented young friend, M. M. Callen, Esq., of this

The following Divisions were represented: Meridian, No. 14, Holston, No. 17, New Salem, No. 1, and Cold Water, No. 2.

There was a goodly number of gentlemen and adies present on the occasion and they seemed to be in earnest in the good work.

After Mr. Callen's address, Wm. Haun made a few well timed remarks, when the following resolution, offered by Capt. M. N. Anderson, and amended by Mr. Haun, was unanimously

Resolved, That we, as Sons of Temperance, will not support any man for any office of trust who is known to be a habitual drinker of intoxicating liquors.

This is a step in the right direction and deserves the attention of all prudent men. It will not only relieve us from, drunken incompetent officers, but it will exercise a restraining influence over young men who are looking forward and expecting to fill offices of profit and trust in this county. We hope other sections can soon boast the same devotion to the cause of temperance that our friends south of the river do, and that they will have many such pleasant gatherings as the one referred to.

The meeting requested Mr. Callen to furnish us the manuscript of his address for publication, which he promised he would do as early as practicable.

Arrested.

Thornburgh has sold out to the Rebels and Democrats and is their candidate, for Attorney General.

A secret conclave, or midnight caucus, was held in the city of Knexville the night before the Convention, composed of Rebels, Democrats, political mountebanks and shoddles, and Thornburgh was agreed upon. Is this the man you are going to vote for?

Respectfully, R. B. Downin, Clinton, Tenn., July 15th, 1870.—dltw3.
